

Hospital Medical Staff Will Recommend Addition, President Johnson Tells Directors Friday

Following the recommendation of its executive committee, the medical staff of the Warner Hospital will formally inform the directors of the hospital that it is urgently necessary that the hospital be enlarged and its physical facilities be expanded.

This information was conveyed to the directors at their regular September meeting, Friday evening in the board room of the Muselman Annex building, by Dr. C. H. Johnson, president of the medical staff, in the course of his report to the board.

Dr. Johnson also informed the board of the affiliation with the staff of two Harrisburg specialists as consultant members. They are Dr. Russell E. Allen, a specialist in urology, and Dr. Stanley C. Klemenc, an orthopedic specialist.

Other additions to the staff approved by the directors are: Dr. Allan W. Kelly, East Berlin; Dr. Philip D. Zulick, Littlestown, and Dr. Granville R. Schultz, Gettysburg dentist.

Had Busy Summer
The hospital experienced one of the busiest summers in its history, according to the census report for the three months period, June, July and August. Admissions for the three months totaled 1,094 house patients. The average number of house patients per day was 75. There were 252 births. Receipts were $88,397.46 while expenditures were $92,161.66 reducing the cash balance of $3,909.56 June 1 to $145.36 on August 31.

Operating or earned income for the period was $20,336.04 as against expenses of $76,670.83. However, free service for the period was $6,187.21 partially offset by $3,272.91 of state appropriation. Fixed charges—insurance and taxes—for the period was $2,093.88. Donations aggregated $1,488.84 and salvage sales $91.43. As a result the hospital showed an operating loss of only $240.79 in the three months. This is under the assumption that $1 would be paid for all services rendered.

Make Improvements
On recommendation of the building and grounds committee, the directors approved installation of a new incinerator at a cost of $447.50; installation of cubical current in the physiotherapy department at a cost of $145 and extension of the porch at the rear entrance, to enable the storm door to open outwardly, at a cost of $80. A recommendation that leveling devices be installed on the elevator in the Muselman building.

FIGURES SHOW LOCAL HOSPITAL NEEDS ADDITION

The admonition of Dr. C. H. Johnson, president of the Warner Hospital medical staff, to the directors Friday evening that they can expect to be formally advised by the medical staff of the urgent need for enlarging the hospital and expanding its physical facilities, was given added support by comparative figures for June, July and August of hospitals up to 100 beds in the Middle Atlantic area comprising New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The regional figures show average adult occupancy during the summer months of 51.46 per cent while the Warner Hospital had an occupancy of 82 per cent. Adult patient days were 3,006 average for the area and 5,609 for the local hospital.

Income per patient for the area averaged $20.89 while the Warner Hospital's comparatively low rates were reflected in the figure of $11.95 income per patient day.

Local Hospital Loses
Expenses per patient day in the Middle Atlantic area were $19.85, reflecting a profit of $1.04 per patient day.

Expenses at the local hospital during the same three months were $15.78 per patient day or a loss of $3.82 per patient day.

In submitting the comparisons, Administrator Walter B. Dillon emphasized that the calculation reflects only adult patients and that the high 82 per cent occupancy of the local hospital is an average figure for the period and does not reflect the extent to which elective patients have to wait for a room.

The administrator also pointed out that 512 days of free care extended in the period cost the hospital nearly $8,100 of which the state pays only about $3,300. He said the funds received from the letter campaign pays the difference and without these funds it would be necessary to conduct campaigns annually to cover this deficit.

A Littlestown construction firm Friday was awarded $15,290.16 in its suit against Clyde R. Bolen, operator of Bowling Green Speedway in Codorus Township, York County.

Maitland had sued Bolen for $16,518.30, claiming that amount was due for equipment and labor furnished in constructing a race track at Bowling Green speedway in 1953. The suit was brought under the Mechanics Lien act.

"New Look" Is Old One At Y

The "new look" at the Gettysburg YWCA building in Lincoln Square really is an old one for the two dormer windows placed this week in the third floor front of the former Joel Danner home are a restoration of the building to its former appearance.

Financed by gifts to the association, the work has been done under the supervision of the House Committee headed by Mrs. Wayne M. Keet, who today expressed her appreciation to all those who have contributed to the Restoration fund.

It is hoped that the fund will also permit the painting of the dormers, the shutters on the second floor which will be made dark green as they were originally. We hope also to give the front of the building a coat of dark red paint to preserve the bricks," Mrs. Keet said.

The YWCA building was formerly the residence of Joel Danner who was a leading citizen and among other offices held those of justice of the peace, Burgess and prothonotary. His daughter, Irene, later Mrs. Charles Reinwald, is the one of his 10 children most closely associated with the YWCA. She took a great interest in girls employed locally and often entertained them in her home. She died in 1920 at the age of 86, the last of her family, and the property on Lincoln Square and its contents were bequeathed to the YWCA. The local association was organized in 1926.

This evening at 8 o'clock there will be a centennial tea at the building in observance of the 100th anniversary of the national YWCA.

Quadruple Amputee To Wed Girl Who Once Spurned Him

HAWTHORNE, N. J. (AP)—A Korean veteran who lost both hands and feet but kept his faith in himself is to be married today to the girl who once said she wouldn't bother seeing him again.

The wedding of Clarence (Red) Mosley, 25, to Miss Ruth Shaw, 22, is to take place at 3 p.m. EST in the First Reformed Church here before some 400 guests.

Mosley was the Air Force's first quadruple amputee of the Korean War. After parachuting from a burning B26 in December, 1952, he had to wait four days in snow and bitter cold until he was rescued from enemy territory by two South Koreans.

Frostbite had taken its toll, however, and the doctors were forced to amputate his hands and feet.

He said he snapped out of despair when he learned "I had my life to waste in self-pity or put to good use." He decided on the latter, and now, according to his wife-to-be, "Red can do anything."

They will leave for a honeymoon in Florida and will tour southern states for two weeks.

A few weeks ago the wedding was called off by Miss Shaw after a quarrel between the two, but the misunderstanding was straightened out in short order and wedding plans set in full motion again.

She will play Wagner's bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" and the wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, soloist, of Gettysburg, will sing "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

PRICE OF EGGS RISES SHARPLY ON MART TODAY

Egg prices advanced sharply at the Farmers Market this morning. Large eggs jumped from 50 to 55 cents a dozen, and there were some sales as high as 57 cents a dozen.

Otherwise prices remained about the same as last week at a well stocked market session. Peaches, close to the end of the season, were offered in smaller quantities this week than last, but prices held steady at generally 25 cents a box, $1 to $1.50 a half bushel.

Farmers explained that demand at the close of the season showed no signs of forcing an increase, at least at this morning's market. A good crop of high quality peaches during the season had apparently satiated the consumers.

Apply prices continued constant, generally 20 to 30 cents a quart box, 50 to 55 cents a half peck. The bushel price ranged up to $4, for finest quality. As with most fruits, apple prices ranged over a wide scale depending on variety and quality.

Other Prices

The Pennsylvania Bankers Association has published the following interesting pamphlet on savings: It follows:

"People everywhere find time for the important things—like saving."

"Right here in Pennsylvania, one of the busiest men who ever lived — Benjamin Franklin — founded our American tradition of saving. Despite his many other activities as inventor, diplomat, lawmaker, printer, and writer, we remember Franklin as a thrifty man, a man who found time—or took time—to save."

"Millions of Americans have followed Franklin's example until, today, thrift is one of our national traits. This may seem strange to people in other countries, who look upon us as a free-spending people. The facts prove that we are also a 'free-saving' people."

"Recent figures show that the American people have $68,950,000,000 deposited in savings accounts in this country's banks. These billions of dollars are held in approximately 58 million separate accounts, for an average of $1,188.77 per account!"

"Here, in Pennsylvania, savings account totals in the last six years have risen 18%. The savings of the people of our state now make up 45% of the total deposits in Pennsylvania banks."

"These bank deposits are owned by a cross section of the public — men, women, children, farmers, lawyers, secretaries, students, salesmen—all of whom know that you can't be too busy to save; that saving is one of the first things to be busy about."

agreed that the fracas was the result of efforts by Reichert and a companion, Robert L. March, 18, of East Berlin, to pick up Farrell's daughter and daughter-in-law in their car as the girls walked along a road near East Berlin earlier that night.

Farrell had said earlier that he went to East Berlin looking for the two men because he believed the girls had been criminally molested.

Reichert Testifies
Questioned by District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, Reichert, who identified himself as a shoe factory worker, gave this testimony:

About 12:30 a.m. on September 6 he and a group of friends were in front of Shetter's Restaurant, East Berlin, when Farrell drove up.

Farrell approached and identified himself as "Capt. Farrell of York City police." Farrell asked who was the owner of a car parked nearby and when Reichert replied that he was, Farrell ordered him to "come along." Reichert replied, "I'm not going any place." Farrell then drew a pistol from a holster under his sport shirt and said, "I'll give you three to get up and go along or I'll blow your guts out." At this time Farrell had pointed the pistol at Reichert's chest from a distance of three or four feet, according to Reichert.

Reichert said he refused and Farrell counted "one" and "cocked the pistol with an audible click." When Reichert remained seated at the count of "two," Farrell handed the pistol to his son, Kenneth, and instructed him to "cover everybody and if anyone moves shoot him," Reichert testified.

"I'll take you one way or the other," Farrell said, and struck Reichert three times in the mouth and nose with his right fist. Meantime Farrell's son held the pistol at his side and then placed it in his pocket, the Abbottstown man asserted.

After that the group and Farrell stood around until a state policeman who had been called earlier, had arrived.

Denies Striking Farrell
Reichert denied that he had struck Farrell first or had cursed him. Farrell at no time showed a badge or offered any more than oral identification, Reichert testified.

Reichert said that he had been told that an unidentified man had called state police from the restaurant about a half hour before Farrell arrived.

"I heard that my license number had been given to state police and I wanted to find out what it was all about so I was waiting for state police when Farrell arrived," Reichert said.

Swope said that for all intents and purposes Farrell had waived hearing on the assault charge and he would not call the defendant or defense witnesses. All involved members of Farrell's family were at the hearing.

Witnesses Present
Also present were eight youths who said they had seen the fracas, George Shetter, restaurant proprietor, and two state policemen. Reichert was the only one to testify.

Nothing was brought out about the attempted pickup of the girls or the incidents leading to the fracas.

Farrell's bail was raised by Orndorff from $1,000 to $2,000, $1,000 on each on charge, and the man who originally had posted bond for the defendant was declared ineligible by the magistrate. The new bail was posted by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huntzberger of East Berlin.

JUNIOR EYE CUES HELP CHILDREN

The Associated Press

A vain mother could ruin her child's eyes.
She may take the attitude that her child's looks will be spoiled by "horrid old eyeglasses." So the poor tot may squint and strain her eyes to see the school blackboard, only to pay the penalty later.

If Junior or Sis must wear special lenses to correct poor vision, the idea should be made attractive to them, instead of a big bug-a-boo which may even give them an inferiority complex.

Here are a few suggestions gleaned from mothers who cope with the problem to help keep your youngster happy with eyeglasses:

1. Do not discuss your child's handicap within her earshot.

2. Use psychology in conditioning her to the idea. Stress that it is probably only a temporary measure.

3. After your eye specialist gives you a lens prescription, choose an optician who will give your child good fit and help you select the right lens frames.

4. Select frames that are flattering to her. If you wear glasses, it is a wonderful idea to choose matching mother-daughter frames. If it is Junior who needs glasses, perhaps the frames can match Dad's—although horn-rimmed or other adult-type frames should be skipped. Adult-style Junior model frames come in a variety of colors in attractive vision-correcting lenses.

5. Dress your child's hair in soft lines to take the play away from the glasses. Pigtails or other sleek-to-the-head coils that draw the hair back tightly are likely to make the glasses especially prominent.

The marked map of your vacation or honeymoon trip may be displayed in den or rumpus room. Just paste the map to the wall and apply a thin coat of fresh, white shellac to the surface to preserve it.

TEETH SPARKLE WITH RIGHT CARE

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

You can afford to grin when your teeth sparkle. And it is easy to keep them so—just visit your dentist regularly for professional tooth cleaning, learn how to use a toothbrush properly and know your own requirements for tooth paste and brush. So says R. George Walcott, medical director of a pharmaceutical house (Bristol-Myers). He offers these suggestions recommended by the American Dental Association:

1. Squeeze sufficient toothpaste on the brush—about 3/4 of an inch. (Follow directions on the tube.)

2. Hold your tooth brush with the bristles at about a 120-degree angle to the gums.

Get Right Angle
3. Place the tooth brush at the gum margin at this angle and brush with a sweeping motion in the direction the teeth grow—down on the upper teeth and up on the lowers, brushing inside and out.

4. Repeat each stroke at least six times, making sure each tooth is brushed all over.

5. Brush chewing surfaces of the teeth thoroughly, placing the bristle ends against the chewing surfaces and using the brush in a plunger motion from front to rear of the mouth.

Get Dentist's OK
Some toothpastes containing special properties to protect against tooth decay, are effective if a thin coating of the paste is left on your teeth. Don't remove it with a rinsed brush.

Your dentist should recommend the right paste and brush for your teeth and gums. There are so many new pastes and powders available that selection of a toothpaste is likely to be confusing for the average person at this point. There are ammoniated ingredients said to reduce acid-producing bacteria in the mouths of persons subject of dental cavities, and some pastes that contain both ammoniated and chlorophyll ingredients.

It is wise to have regular visits to your dentist even if your pearly choppers are dazzlingly lovely. Your dentist can detect tiny cavities through x-ray and can help preserve your teeth by careful treatment of cavities. He can remove through professional cleaning stubborn deposits that resist your brush.

Dental health authorities advise that persons subject to tooth decay may maintain effective protection by brushing teeth every time they eat.

GAL SPRAY SKY FLIES INTO WORK

FORT WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Women tackle practically every kind of job these days, but attractive Mary Wilcox doesn't have much competition in her field—yet.

At 26, Mary is an experienced sky-sprayer. That means she has to be a topnotch flier and know a great deal about fighting weeds with chemicals.

In the off-season, she bones up on the latest developments in herbicides at an experimental farm near here.

Few Feet Off Ground
Then during the three summer months she puts this knowledge to practical use for Canadian ranches: Flying a few feet off the ground at more than 85 miles an hour, she sprays miles and miles of Alberta wheat and other grains.

From her small open cockpit bi-plane, Mary can spray an acre in 15 seconds. The operation kills the weeds chemically, an estimated 40 times faster than ground methods. It costs the farmer $1.25 an acre—but don't call on Mary if you only have an acre or two.

When she lands for the chemical her business partner, Canadian rancher Frank Young, pumps the spray solution into a 40-gallon tank in the plane. From this tank the spray is distributed to a total of 12 nozzles under the wings—six on each side. Flow is controlled by a trigger on the stick, similar to the device which fires machine guns on a fighter plane.

Rolls Mix Spray
Once loaded, Mary takes off and does a couple of rolls to mix the solution.

Two helpers stand in the field, serving as markers for the swath she'll spray. As she approaches, they dive flat to the ground to avoid being clipped by the plane. Then they run across the field to mark the next swath while Mary does a sharp turn for the reverse flight. This procedure is necessary because the chemical does not leave a plainly-visible mark on the crops.

The pretty flier, who likes to ski and play squash rackets in her leisure time, has logged more than 2,500 hours in the air without a crackup.

SWITCHBOARD ROMANCE

Processing Of Apples And Tin Can Salvaging Delayed Again: Disposition of the large part of the 780,000 gallon tin cans, the sliced apple contents of which were being reprocessed during the last few weeks at the Knouse corporation plant at Peach Glen, has not yet been solved by the Army, the War Salvage office at Harrisburg and the War Production Board, all of which at one time or another have had a hand in starting and stopping movement of the cans from the Knouse plant.

The Knouse plant learned today that the government out of the sliced apples, which had been stored by the government for the last two years, stopped Wednesday at the Knouse plant and the hauling of cans from the plant to the Gettysburg dump by Paul Plank, Gettysburg, had stopped some time before.

Mr. Plank told The Gettysburg Times he had hauled cans to York for three weeks under Army instructions until salvage officials interfered by threatening him with arrest for marketing freshly opened cans that could be used at detinning plants.

The Army came to Plank's rescue by pointing out that the cans were government property.

Then Plank began hauling tons of the shiny empty cans to the Gettysburg dump so they could rust and thus be marketed without violating salvage regulations which do not apply to rusty cans. Space at the dump is almost filled and Federal officials are urging Plank to rent more land to dump the cans.

Soon the hundreds of thousands of cans that are piled high at the Gettysburg dump and the thousands more that are blocking operations at the Peach Glen plant will be

Today's Talk

COACH TO HAPPINESS

Everything enacted in our daily program is influenced by our thoughts and our attitude toward life. To be happy and successful we must want to be so! We must be our own coach, and a constructive one at that. We must put our faith and all in the balance, and believe that health and happiness are something bequeathed us by right of birth.

We can't forever be harboring defeatist thoughts, complaining about our lot, or blaming someone else for our misfortunes, and expect to be either healthy or happy. As coach to our own self what is there to fear? We have the best things in life in our favor, and the will to keep them as our own.

At baseball games I am always interested in the various coaches. And the players watch those coaches, too. It's as though you could depend upon someone behind you to give you a boost, as is what actually happens in a baseball game. That's why they have coaches. After all, no one understands us quite so well as our own self. So, let's then be our own coach—never letting our own self down!

There is nothing like a cheerful front to assure health and happiness. We think our way to both health and happiness. You can't defeat a man or woman who has already decided upon a triumphant program! There is always so much more of everything good and inspiring that awaits one than is ever imagined. What keeps us on the sunny side of life is an ever-abiding faith, coached by a never-failing belief in oneself.

In nature there are coaches. I watched a brood of wild ducks in front of my cabin this summer. The mother would make a run and then the small ones would imitate. Then that mother would dive, and all the youngsters would do the same. Mothers are wonderful coaches in human beings! Never should we fall them.

He comes in shouting from the street:

"Hey, Ma, I'm hungry!—How about a piece of pie to help me out?"

"You haven't had the time to bake?"
Well how about a piece of cake?"
"No," says the mother, "it's too late."

For supper time you ought to wait."

"Tis not in envy that I write
Of any small boy's appetite.
Time was when I was just a lad
The same desire to eat I had."

And have the mother telling me:

trucked to York where they will be baled for use as scrap metal. The route from Peach Glen to York is about 22 miles. Because the cans have to rust before they can be sold legally the cans have to come first to Gettysburg and then have a 28 mile haul to York ahead of them.

Here And There: The problems of ridding Gettysburg of mosquitoes, a nuisance of many years standing, may have been solved.

Time magazine recently reporting on the new insecticide, DDT, said this: "Censorship was lifted last week from one of the great scientific discoveries of World War II. It is an insecticide called DDT. DDT stopped a typhus epidemic in Naples. It promises to wipe out the mosquito and malaria, to liquidate the household fly, cockroach and bedbug, to control some of the most damaging insects that prey on the world's crops."

Captain Knox Given Legion Of Merit Award: By S. Sgt. Edw. Harrington, Ninth Troop Carrier base, European Theater of Operations (by mail)—One brief paragraph in a long list of general orders reads: "John J. Knox, Capt. Air Corps, Hq., etc., awarded Legion of Merit for exceptional meritorious performance of his duties."

Those who never knew Capt. Knox, former prominent physician of Gettysburg, the announcement was just a matter for the record. But to the personnel of his Troop Carrier unit, it was the best news they had read in some time, for that paragraph contained a story they all knew well—a story of sweat and toil, backed by skill and devotion to his profession. So it is with joy that the "boys" of Capt. Knox's unit hail the award, the fourth highest ranking medal awarded by the War Department.

SPECULATE ON WHETHER GOP HEADS WORRIED

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER (AP)—Does the new zip President Eisenhower have started putting into his campaign for a Republican Congress mean the GOP high command is worried about the outcome of the November elections?

Aides to the President here at the summer White House provide no clear cut yes or no answer. They and Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall conceded in advance of the four-state political tour which Eisenhower completed yesterday that the party's candidates were "running scared."

Good Psychology
But they also insist that doesn't mean they actually are fearful the Democrats will recapture control of Congress. They say it's good psychology to run scared to avoid overconfidence.

Then why did Eisenhower start slugging for the first time during the campaign in his Los Angeles speech Thursday night after showing so much restraint for weeks? The answer you get in talking to men around the President here is in two parts.

Some Real Concern
First, they say that with Congress as evenly divided politically as it is now that there naturally is some real concern that the Democrats may win control in November. They add, however, that the concern is by no means new and that, therefore, is not a major factor in the more vigorous fight Eisenhower has started to wage. They say a more important reason for the step-up in the President's pace is in the second part to the answer—timing.

The entire campaign, Eisenhower associates say, was planned the way it has been going. An easy start, gradual gathering of steam, and then the climax in the weeks remaining before Nov. 2.

Same Course Again
According to those associates, it was in the cards from the start that the President would build up tempo as he went along. They recall he was criticized in some quarters early in the 1952 presidential campaign for not waging a more vigorous fight.

But as the duel with Adlai Stevenson progressed, Eisenhower became more outspoken. And that, apparently, is the course he is following this year in the congressional campaign.

Girl, 17, Is Killed At Football Game

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—A 17-year-old high school girl was shot to death as she walked toward the stands to watch a high school football game last night. The shot apparently came from outside the stadium.

The girl was Margaret Adams, a senior at Stratton High School for Negroes.

Police say they don't even know whether Margaret or some one else was the intended victim. A policeman was standing only six feet away when she was felled by the bullet.

Officers went checking a report on an unidentified man standing in a wooded lot just outside the stadium.

The game went on anyway, Beckley High winning 21-6 over Stratton.

The case came up because the condition of Estelle's lungs in involved in a workmen's compensation case, and an insurance company, acting through the Red Bank Board of Education, said embalming fluid would destroy some necessary evidence. The court said only the lungs could be examined.

Notice Signs Of Peace Offensive

LONDON (AP)—Signs from Moscow indicate the Kremlin is preparing to launch a new propaganda peace offensive.

Moscow radio broadcasts indicate the new drive will start in mid-November. As usual, the aim will be to instill in the minds of millions all over the world the idea that the Russians want peace, while the U.S. government wants war.

"For the purpose of further rallying and mobilizing the growing forces of peace," said Pravda, "the Bureau of the World Peace Council has decided to convene on Nov. 18 a session of the World Peace Council."

YANKS DEMAND A PEACE PLAN ON UN AGENDA

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States put a priority tag on the Eisenhower atom-for-peace plan today as the U.N. General Assembly met to add the question to its work program.

An American source said the U.S. delegation would ask the Assembly's 60-Nation Political Committee early next week to make the plan its first order of business. The source described it as a natural to open the committee debates, beginning probably the middle of next week.

The Assembly assigns questions to the committees, but each committee determines its own order of business.

Discussion of the plan got a surprising assist yesterday from the Soviets. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky not only insisted in the Steering Committee that the atom item go on the Assembly agenda, but called for a unanimous vote in recommending its consideration.

Denies Rejecting Plan
Vishinsky denied U.S. statements that the Soviet Union had rejected the atom pool plan, proposed by President Eisenhower last December in a speech to the U.N. Vishinsky said the Kremlin wished to resume talks on the idea.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles presented a further four-point study and training plan to the Assembly Thursday, which emphasized atomic power techniques and methods of fighting cancer. He said the United States and other countries would develop the program even if Russia refused to

Carlisle, Led By Washington, Crushes Warriors 26-6; GHS Tallies On 3rd Period Pass

A power-laden and hard-hitting Carlisle High School football team handed the scrappy Gettysburg High Warriors a 26-6 setback here Friday evening in the opening South Penn Conference game before approximately 3,300 fans.

Sparked by Clyde Washington, Carlisle fullback, the Thundering Herd smashed over three touchdowns, all by Washington, in the second quarter and was never in serious trouble thereafter.

Coach Howard Shomaker's outfit displayed its best form after the half time intermission when it marched 63 yards after receiving the kickoff to tally as Glenn Weishaar heaved a pass from the 12-yard line to Ronnie Williams on the two from where he went over. Don Smith's placement was wide for the point.

Carlisle drove 62 yards for its initial touchdown after 4:28 minutes of the second period. Washington, Percy Chronister and Bill Cochrane smashed through the Warrior line for substantial gains. Washington finally cracking the line from 6 yards out to hit pay dirt. Jim Everly broke through for Gettysburg to block Washington's placement for the point.

Interception Hurts
On the first play following the next kickoff Alex Green, Carlisle end, pounced on a Warrior fumble to give the Herd the ball on the Gettysburg 23 to set the stage for another tally. Washington, on two tries, picked up a first down on the 7. Chronister added a yard before Washington smashed across from the 6. The placement for the point was wide.

An intercepted pass by Chronister on the Carlisle 35 opened the way for another touchdown drive later in the same period. Dowd, Cochrane and Washington picked up two first downs to the Warriors' 31. A long pass, Riddlesberger to Green, put the ball on the 8 from where Washington banged over.

Warriors Stage Rally
A greatly rejuvenated Gettysburg team came back in the third period to march 63 yards for a score. Weishaar pitched to Joe Dearing for 6 yards and Fred Furney picked up a first down on a smash to midfield. Joe Tonsel and Williams added another first down on the visitors' 35. Weishaar lost 10 yards when he was trapped as he attempted to pass. On another pass, interference was called against Carlisle on the receiver end Gettysburg had a first down on the 20.

Tonsel was spilled back on the 26 but Williams picked up 14 on his next try. Weishaar then connected on an aerial to Williams on the 3 from where he went over.

The aroused Carlisle team bounced right back and moved 59 yards which wound up with Chronister ripping through from the 10. Again Washington converted.

There was no scoring in the final periods and both coaches made good use of the bench in the waning moments.

One of the prettiest plays for Gettysburg was executed by Merle Gorman, end, midway in the final period when he went down fast under Sam Staley's punt and nailed Riddlesberger just as he caught the ball. Riddlesberger fumbled and Gorman recovered on the Carlisle 43 but the Warriors could not capitalize and were forced to give up the ball on the 23.

GHS Recovers Fumbles
Gettysburg could not capitalize on a break shortly after Bob Bonduant's opening kickoff went into the end zone. Don Smith recovered a Herd fumble on the Carlisle 22 but the Warriors were stopped dead in their tracks with the visitors taking over on the 25.

After Carlisle moved for a first down, Cloyd Spence snapped another Carlisle bobbie on the Gettysburg 48 but Sam Staley was soon forced to punt to Riddlesberger on the Herd 36.

Carlisle's heavier outfit displayed a very strong running attack which should make it one of the top contenders for conference honors. The line work was featured by Bill Rowe, center, and Green, end.

The Warriors refused to quit at any stage and turned in a good second half performance despite a big deficit.

Next Friday the locals invade Hanover for another conference game.

CRITICS CLAIM BEATEN PITT IS TOUGH ANIMAL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Football critics seemed agreed today that a University of Southern California sophomore halfback, Jon Arnett, was the difference, and the Pitt Panthers will be a tough animal to skin this fall.

USC turned back the Pittsburgh team, 27-7, last night—a margin that belies the fact that Pitt battled the heavily favored Trojans to a 7-7 tie through three quarters.

Arnett scored the first three touchdowns for USC. He put the Trojans into a 7-0 lead with a two-yard smash, broke the 7-7 tie with a brilliant 25-yard run off right tackle, and led the match with a one-yard punch for a 20-7 score.

The win was the second for USC in the new season. Pitt was playing its first game of the fall and showed the neel of a warm-up contest.

Will Beat Good Teams

Jess Hill, USC coach, aptly expressed it when he predicted: "Pitt will beat a lot of good teams this year. They were good, big, fast and aggressive. We were aggressive, too."

Jess wasn't referring to a flare-up in the exercises when players from both teams began throwing punches. It was quite lively and the onlookers—50,253—were in an uproar before officials halted the affair.

Jenkins, a hard charging 185-pounder from East Liverpool, Ohio, gained 54 yards in 12 carries. At one stage he hugged the ball five straight times and made 27 yards through the large Trojan line.

Pitt's touchdown came on a pass play for 49 yards, with halfback Henry Ford, another star back, throwing to end Dick Scherer.

'No Manager Ever Resigns'

Bucky Harris puts out with a grin at Fenway Park, Boston, Friday, despite announcement that he had resigned as manager of the Washington Senators. Washington owner, Clark Griffith, announcing Harris' resignation, says he plans to contact Phil Rizzuto, Yankees shortstop, and former Brooklyn Dodgers manager Charlie Dressen, Sept. 27, Harris, asked to comment, said: "No manager ever resigns." George Mikan, Court Great, Is Retiring

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Proud George Mikan, acclaimed the greatest basketball player of the half-century, refused to let advancing years blemish a magnificent career today and retired from the game.

Around the 6-10 Minneapolis Laker superstar swirled rumors that he might be enticed back by a more attractive salary offer.

But Mikan, selected by the Associated Press in 1950 as basketball's all-time great, denied that his decision was provoked by a salary squabble, or that he would reconsider.

He said he was quitting to devote full time to his law practice, and that at 30, he had few starring years left.

NOTRE DAME AND NEW COACH GET BIG TEST TODAY

By ED CORRIGAN Associated Press Sports Writer

The big boys of college football donned the mole skins today and the potential No. 1 team in the country was put squarely on the spot.

The 1964 edition of Notre Dame, with a new coach—26-year-old Terry Brennan at the helm—fought onto the South Bend Stadium before a full house of 57,000 against Texas, a team that already has one impressive victory in the bag.

The other top game in the country—Michigan State vs. Iowa—was the NCAA's TV game of the day at 3:15 p.m. (EST). The Spartans, who also will be under the aegis of a new coach, Hugh Daugherty, are rated a slight favorite over Iowa.

Friday night, Southern California, one of the perennial Pacific Coast Conference powers, whipped Pitt.

Panthers Fight Gamely

The once-mighty Panthers made a good fight of it. They held Southern Cal pointless for the first quarter, then permitted a touchdown in the second quarter when sophomore Jon Arnett went two yards for the first score of the game.

But in the final minute of the quarter halfback Henry Ford flipped 49 yards to Dick Scherer for the tying marker. The third quarter was scoreless but in the final session, Southern Cal's pent-up power unleashed itself in a 20-point spree. Arnett scored two more touchdowns on a 25-yard ramble and a 1-yard plunge. The other TD came on a 67-yard pass play.

The other major games of the night wound up in high scoring affairs. Richmond whopped Hampden-Sydney, 40-0; Miami, using its second team most of the way, overwhelmed Furman, 51-13; Denver, with second-string quarterback Rusty Fairly plunging for three touchdowns, stopped Drake, 33-13.

Sooners Battle T. C.

Most of the top powers faced the kind of opposition that could throw a monkey wrench into their gears today, even before they gained momentum.

Oklahoma, the top team in the first weekly Associated Press poll, had a date with troublesome Texas

Lights Fail On Bolts' Gridiron; Play Today At 2

A power failure with three minutes remaining in the first period caused postponement of the Littlestown-Susquehannock football game at Littlestown Friday evening and the game was re-scheduled for this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

After a long distance phone call to James Neely, Lancaster, District 3 PIAA chairman, officials announced the game will have to be played in its entirety.

At the time of the failure Susquehannock had driven to the Littlestown 1½-yard-line. There had been no score.

The game was delayed in starting until 9 o'clock when the power failed as the teams were taking their warmups. Electricians were summoned from Hanover who restored the system.

When the lights again went out it was decided the trouble was in the underground system and further play was impossible. No admission will be charged for today's game.

JONES BEATEN BY GIARDELLO

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joey Giardello probably wishes he never heard of, let alone fought, the Jones boys even though he won decisions over both.

The Philadelphia, No. 1 ranking middleweight challenger, scored a unanimous decision over Ralph (Tiger) Jones at the Arena last night in a nationally televised 10 rounder. But he looked rusty, unimpressive and certainly nothing

Says Power Braking Cuts Reaction Time In Half And Is Important Safety Factor

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Being a gentleman is more than holding the car door open while your wife lugs the bag of groceries.

Boosting for Safety

While the greater ease of bringing the car to a stop is an obvious advantage of power braking it is not the outstanding virtue of this development, in the opinion of those who are watching the safety picture closely. What counts in terms of safety is the marked reduction in reaction time. Most cars have braking systems which can easily overtax the traction ability of the four tires, but if the driver starts stopping with less delay he stands just that much more chance of avoiding a collision. Tests have shown that power braking can cut reaction time in half. It is a great gain.

Some of this cut is due to the greater speed with which the boosting action applies the brakes because there is shorter pedal travel. But of equal importance is the lower positioning of the brake pedal. Instead of having to lift his right foot from the accelerator pedal in order to place it on the brake pedal the driver merely pivots his foot from one pedal to the other.

wisdom in saving this important link in the chain of early motor history.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Of late there has been a tendency toward rather loose use of the term 'ping' when referring to an engine's tendency to knock. Some of this so-called pinging is preignition which is quite a different story.

"When there is too much carbon in the engine there may be old-fashioned preignition. Furthermore it may develop in only one or two cylinders as against a general disturbance when there is genuine pinging. Carbon deposits may upset cooling so as to bring on variations in heat transfer. Thus we get what is known as the wild ping—or preignition."

Question of Grounding

Like millions of other motorists you have perhaps often wondered why the positive side of the battery on some cars is grounded whereas on others the negative side grounds. Perhaps you have received all sorts of explanations for this difference of opinion among car engineers. If so, throw it all overboard. The latest dope on the subject is that there is no good reason for adhering to either plan. Currently manufacturers are going along using the arrangement to which they have become addicted just to eliminate confusion among their own customers and dealers.

Picked Up En Route

In a roadside eatery I learned that the work "restaurant" originally meant a medicinal soup. . . . It is now possible to use a converter in the car to change DC current into current that will operate standard AC 110 volt equipment such as electric razors, dictating machines and tape recorders. . . . Next big development in car operation will be brakes which automatically check overbraking so that it will not be possible to slide the wheels.

Nothin But the Best

For the benefit of those who came in late let me emphasize that great care should always be exercised in adding fluid to the brake reservoir. Some owners have the notion that special brake fluid is just put up to sell and that ordinary light engine oil will do the job just as well. Any petroleum oil will damage the rubber parts of the braking system. There has been ample proof of this where careless mechanics have accidentally picked up an oil can instead of the one with brake fluid. That's why most shops are careful to keep brake fluid in containers which can't be confused with oil cans.

The fluid should be of top quality too because not only does it have to retain a normal viscosity when cold but also when hot. Car manufacturers also favor the idea of continuing to use the particular brand of fluid originally selected for the brakes. At least this emphasizes the importance of using the best fluid available.

handy when a car problem presents itself.

Perfectly illustrating this was a comment by Kathryn that when she opened the ventilator on her side of the car hot air came into the car instead of a cool breeze. For several miles the engine had been acting a little off normal, but it was not until that comment about the hot air that I guessed what was wrong. Stopping the car, and lifting the hood, revealed that the large rubber tube for the right hand ventilator had slipped from the metal shroud and was lying against two of the spark plugs. A wire coil that gave the tube support was simply doing a beautiful job of shorting the plugs.

That Exhaust Racket

Some of that noise you hear in the exhaust isn't due to a leaky muffler or poor muffling but results from pressure waves being transmitted to the air through too thin exhaust system walls. Engineers call this shell noise. There is also a certain amount of vibration. I remember one engine where the manifold developed a ringing sound. They cured it by attaching a block of metal.

In checking for leakage don't be satisfied merely with discovery of a hole in the muffler shell. Sometimes the trouble comes from a split exhaust pipe or leaky manifold gaskets.

In The Motor Mail

Q. What can be done to check excessive fuel pump pressure? G. S.

A. You can have a regulator installed to prevent excess pressure from unseating the carburetor's needle valve.

Q. Is there any simple way to check for dragging of brake shoes? Wm. L. F.

A. With the brakes released you should be able to get a clear ring from each drum when you tap it with a hammer.

Q. In what portion of the Eastern hemisphere are the greatest number of registered automobiles. I understood that New York State has over four million cars. Is this exceeded? G. R. B.

A. California stands at the head of the list. At this writing it has over five and one half million registered motor vehicles. This includes commercial cars.

Q. I spent some time the other day checking over the spark plugs and was surprised to find that each one of them was covered with a dry and black fluff deposit. I had not seen this before, all previous experience revealing the plug points as being somewhat dirty but wet as with oil. Perhaps I am not now using the right heat type of plug. K. W. Jr.

A. The plugs are the right heat type. Your trouble here is that the engine is suffering from an excessively rich mixture. I would have your mechanic check to see what the situation is with the carburetor float level. If too high the mixture will be rich.

Q. What happens if a tire is mounted on a too narrow rim? A friend of mine has just installed a pair of new tires and it is my contention that the rims are not wide enough. N. Mc. B.

A. Where a tire is designed to be mounted on a wider base rim its bead would not be in the normal position if a narrower rim is used. The tire walls then bulge too much and, unless they are of finest construction, would quickly

Q. There is a most peculiar noise in the right front brake on my car. I would describe it as a clicking noise, and quite loud. Checking the brake I find nothing wrong. New lining was installed on the brakes several weeks ago and this noise immediately developed. They cut back the ends of the brake lining, thinking that the shoes might vibrate against their drums. A. J. E.

A. You may find that the brake shoe return springs have been accidentally switched. The heavier spring is for the secondary shoe.

Q. Oil is burning off faster than usual, yet compression seems to be fairly good. There are no leaks. What now? G. H.

DILLSBURG — Because of the $6,500 worth of improvements made within recent months to the Red Mount Evangelical United Brethren Church, of which the pastor is the Rev. Percy D. Brown, a service of re-dedication is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the principal speaker to be the Rev. Dr. N. L. Q. I can't get premium tires for my car because the present wheels are 16 inch. Can I switch to 15 inch wheels? J. G. T.

A. Yes, they are available. But be sure you get five with sufficiently wide base rims.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. Please confine inquiries to one subject and limit letters to 100 words or less.

of the Wellsville school was conducted at the school building Tuesday evening with "Mexico" as the program topic. Mrs. Ida Griest showed "slides" of that country, and there was a demonstration of the music and folk dances of that country, as well as a display of novelty articles imported from this neighboring land.

The annual meeting of the Society of Friends at the Warrington Meeting House of this sect will take place Sunday with services at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. The service is conducted once a year in order to comply with regulations retaining the church's charter. "John Greenleaf Whittier, The Quaker Poet," will be a featured topic Sunday, with the guest speaker to be C. Marshall Taylor, New York, retired chemist who studies and impersonates the nineteenth-century poet as a hobby. Mr. Taylor will speak at both services and give his impersonation and Whittier recitations in the afternoon.
